As a human being live on this earth, all behavior or actions must based on ethics. The ethics of a person's behavior can show traits or actions whether good, bad, polite or rude in the eyes other human beings. This shows understanding and appreciation of each human to the meaning of ethics itself is very important in continuing life in this modern age of globalization. The word ethics itself is taken from the English language that is 'ethics'. Ethics comes from the Greek word 'ethos' which mean attitude or personality [1]. The meaning of ethics according to understanding the Malay language is a person's character or morality in their behavior or association taken from the Hall Dictionary Fourth Edition [2]. Ethics is also one of the branches in moral philosophy. It is related to the treatment or a person's actions whether bad or beautiful in handling situation or situation that needs to be faced. Ethics is the nature or behavior that includes each age, race, ethnicity, religion and country. Someone who ethical in living everyday life indirectly will make his life peaceful and calmer to face challenges in everyday life. In addition, the maturity of the attitude that he has also has a positive effect on people who was around him. In every job, there will be an ethical scope in taking action for each matter that has been set according to the type of job.

Living an ethical life will pay off to yourself and the people around you. By its very nature, ethics good already exists in humans. Nevertheless, life experience and the challenges of the technological revolution will now test one either he is able to maintain good ethics or otherwise. Therefore, in this modern age people must understand and learn more deeply in order to be able to apply ethics in their lives [3]. For example, when someone speaks honest, polite, respect for elders will be considered ethical. Whereas if someone steals, tells a lie and dishonesty will be considered unethical in his life. The meaning of manners is fine manners, good behavior and noble manners [4]. Talk rudely and impoliteness is one of the actions that show a person is not civilized in his life. The best easy example is when a person raises his voice to his parents or those who are older will be considered as someone who is not civilized. The understanding of manners should start from home patterns taught by parents. Thus, manners evolved from individual to family, community and then to groups the bigger one is society. If someone is liked and respected in the community, it shows them successfully and intelligently handle any situation in a way that civilized [5].
